Information Distribution an Essential Element Toward Sustainable Change - Scientific Concepts that Solve Underserved Populations

On behalf of Charity Productions, we thank you for forty years of community repeat and new supporters, and clients. The disparities are well documented as to how, why, and who created these inequities. The reason we say wrongfully identified is due to low-performing elected officials' malpractice of public policy and misuse of taxpayer dollars, then and now. Forty years ago our dependency on others' knowledge was replaced by technology. Utilizing the combined resources of senior citizens, and a new generation of stakeholders' solutions is achievable. A fundamental ingredient involves using scientific principles.

1. To reverse engineering the politically manufactured conditions.
2. To recalibrate our collective value - using history, and evidence-based research.
3. To correct 40 years of neglect and low-performing public policy.
4. To reinvent neighborhoods as power bases.
5. To introduce Bi-Annual Community Stories, Heroes, and Sheroes.
6. To introduce universities and a channel of expertise.

New Thinking and Approaches: Decades of mal-political practices have largely replaced the humanitarian side of neighborhoods and replaced it with high-handed developers.
